MY PERFECT 24 HOURS IN SPLIT & ISLANDS

The Dalmatian Coast offers a great variety of different islands, each one of them with its own unique charm. Picturesque cliff lines, turquoise water, lonesome bays, ancient olive trees, lavender fields, romantic vineyards and cool party hot spots – the islands around Split are a colourful bouquet of fun options.

The best way to discover the archipelago is definitely by sailing boat, but plan in a couple of days to discover and enjoy all the gems of the area to the fullest.

At Navigare Yachting you can charter a complete package and sail off with a beautiful yacht and an experienced skipper.

The first island to stop at is Brač, which is the biggest of the Dalmatian islands. Here you should definitely book a table for dinner at the restaurant Ch21. It's a wonderful place where you can anchor directly with your boat and hop off for a delicious feast at the seaside. For a day trip, head to the Senjkovic Winery for some wine tasting. This place is owned by a lovely couple and they treat you to the finest menu and liquid grapes in a beautiful and intimate atmosphere.

If you have a little more time (and a sober driver), make your way to the cute, little village Bol for another wine tasting at Stina Winery. This is the oldest wine cellar of the island; it has a nice modern bar though. Try their various types of wine, for example Pošip, Plavac mali and Vugava. In case you're starting to get hungry, walk along the promenade to Ribarska Kucica, a restaurant sitting right by the sea in a restored brick house.

Back on the boat the trip continues to Hvar. Besides the idyllic lavender fields (which blossom in June and July) this island is pretty well known for turning the night into day, so to speak. Hula-Hula Beach Club is a vibrant place for some chilled drinks and a fun celebration. Dva Ribara is a nice restaurant at the bay for enjoying the best, fresh caught fish. The Spaghetti Frutti di Mare are simply mouthwatering!

If you're seeking some luxury on your sailing trip, Martinis Marchi on the western point of the island Solta is a beautiful place to pamper yourself. Located in a bay, this former castle is a romantic place to unwind.

Now it's time to sail back to Split, where a lot of hot spots are still waiting to be discovered. But before you arrive, make sure you jump into the ocean as often as possible.

To start your Split adventure, you might need a little caffeine kick. Cafe Bar Fro has a great takeaway window where you can grab a cup of coffee or a freshly squeezed orange juice and enjoy it while walking through Old Town. If you want to celebrate your coffee ritual, head over to 4coffee Soul Food. These guys are really passionate about what they do! Kruscic Bakery or Bobis Bakery have plenty of delicious pastry and fresh bread for you to gorge on.

Walk along the Riva and enjoy a little people-watching. For an afternoon snack stop at Tri Volta – an iconic spot where all the locals hang out. Order the typical Karlovačko beer and some raw ham. Bokeria is also a stylish and excellent place for lunch. Maybe you've had enough food by now, but here are two more recommendations: Paradox Wine Bar is where you can get a nice pre-dinner glass of wine before entering Villa Spiza. The last one is a very authentic spot with a great Croatian menu, prepared with only the freshest ingredients. You sit at the bar and can actually watch them as they cook.

*Enjoy exploring,
Carina*
